

Boyd's Bay Weekly News

This Week's Travel Log

Our learning targets for the week are:

- I can estimate the differences between pairs of 2-digit numbers.
- I can read temperatures and relate them to hot, warm, or cold events.
- I can read, write, and model base-10 block multi-digit whole numbers through the hundreds.
- I can tell, write, and solve number stories.
- I can add and subtract multiples of 10 using base-10 blocks.
- I can name, model, and describe plane shapes.
- I can name, model, and describe solid figures.
- I can identify and describe attributes of plane shapes and solid figures.
- I can solve comparison number stories.
- I can read nonfiction texts and learn what the author wants me to know.
- I can identify the following of earth's biomes and name three animals that call it home: ocean, forest, fresh water, tundra, rainforest, desert, and prairie.
- I can share information that I have learned about in writing and verbally.

A Note From Ms. Boyd
