This Week's Travel Log

Our learning targets for the week are:

- I can read and write words containing the diagraphs wh, ph, or sh.
- I can read and write 's and n't contractions like it's and hasn't.
- I can visualize or create mental pictures of what I'm reading. This helps me better understand and remember what I read.
- I can determine cause and effect or why an event happens and strengthen my reading comprehension.
- I can write a story that is 3-5 sentences long about an event that happened in my life.
- I can read temperature to the nearest 2 degrees on a thermometer.
- I can count forward by 2s from a multiple of 10.
- I can compare heights.
- I can measure lengths in nonstandard units and compare lengths.
- I can measure length to the nearest foot.
- I can identify features of my local community.
