This Week's Travel Log

Our learning targets for the week are:

- I can identify the value of coins.
- I can make change by counting up.
- I can count equal parts of wholes.
- I can divide shapes into halves, thirds, and fourths.
- I can label fractional parts of figures.
- I can find fractional parts of collections of pennies.
- I can compare and contrast two things or ideas. I can show how they are alike and different using a Venn diagram.
- I can describe an animal's needs for growth and survival and explain how its habitat meets those needs.
- I can determine an author's purpose for writing a text: to persuade, to inform, or to entertain.
- I can write and illustrate a story about an experience I have had that will become my Young Author's Book.
